the government s natural capital committee set up to check how far the government bases its policies on the cost the benefits the uk derives from its natural environment such as clean air water food and recreation should be put on a permanent statutory footing the environmental audit committee recommends the ncc was set up in may 2012 with a three year remit that ends just before the general election it has produced 2 progress reports so far highlighting gaps in the available data on these factors and calling for a 25 year plan to plug the gaps and start using the information in government decisions but the government has yet to respond in detail to those ncc reports the environment is just one strand of a wider view of people s well being which also addresses people s economic and social circumstances as well as their view of the satisfaction they get from their lives in november 2010 the prime minister launched a programme to measure well being to complement economic statistics like gdp in measuring our progress as a country however more than three years since then the committee note our quality of life is not yet receiving the same attention as those economic metrics the committee highlight the links being uncovered in the statistics between people s view of their well being and their background and circumstances for example the link between well being and people s health marital status or religion but the mps warn that the data are not yet sufficiently robust to support a single metric that could encompass well being and which could be set alongside gdp
